The Atlanta Business Chronicle Reveals Its Annual List of Atlanta's Best Places to Work

Atlanta, GA — October 28, 2011 — The Atlanta Business Chronicle has named Insight Sourcing Group (ISG) one of the best small companies to work for in Atlanta. ISG was ranked 7th on this year's list of Atlanta's 'Best Places to Work' in the small companies division. Employees are invited to participate in an anonymous survey about their company, in which they are asked to provide information about their workplace, co-workers, and managers. Insight Sourcing Group employees are excited to be on this list for the 4th year in a row, with ISG's ranking increasing every year.

It is not hard to see why Insight Sourcing Group has made the list for the last 4 years. At ISG, management makes sure that all employees have a voice within the company, and that each person is recognized frequently for his or her hard work. Fun team events are planned quarterly, and junior team members are constantly involved in important client meetings and decisions. Tom Beaty, President and CEO of Insight Sourcing Group, said "As the President of ISG, I'm glad to know that our employees not only do a great job, but also think of Insight Sourcing Group as a great place to work. One of our core values is 'People Matter Most,' and it has been my goal from the start to make ISG a challenging, but fun work environment where people can grow in their careers. While we stress great client results, we also want our employees to enjoy the work they're doing, and I think that we've achieved both."
